Erich Hellemann

Email: ehellemann@pitt.edu LinkedIn: erich-hellemann

EDUCATION

University of Pittsburgh

PA, USA

PhD Candidate in the Molecular Biophysics and Structural Biology program

2017-Present

Advisor: Jacob D. Durrant PhD

 Research interests focus on computer-aided drug discovery, virtual screening, molecular dynamics simulations, and weighted ensemble path sampling

Carnegie Mellon University

PA, USA

M. S. in Chemistry

2014-2016

Advisor: Roberto R. Gil PhD

- Developed methodologies for the use of anisotropic NMR parameters in structural elucidation of small molecules

Universidad Nacional Autónoma de México

Mexico City, México

B. S. in Chemistry

2006-2011

– Thesis: "The use of NMR to study small organic molecules structure: isotropic exchange, keto/enol equilibrium of  $\beta$ -dicarbonyl systems"

EXPERIENCE

University of Pittsburgh

PA, USA

Research Assistant

2018-Present

- Development of a computational tool to sample protein conformational space using rare event sampling techniques for their use in computer-aided drug design
- Use of molecular dynamics to elucidate the effects of mutations or small molecule binding in biological important proteins
- Mentoring of undergraduate students

University of Pittsburgh

PA, USA

Teaching Assistant

Spring 2020

- Course -Biochemistry Laboratory (Biosc 1830)

University of Pittsburgh

PA, USA

Research Technician in Prof. Andrew P. Hinck laboratory

2016-2017

- Recombinant protein expression and purification
- Structural studies of TGF-β receptors using NMR
- NMR fragment-based screening of recombinant proteins

Carnegie Mellon University

PA, USA

Research Assistant

2014 - 2016

- Use of anisotropic NMR parameters to determine relative configuration of small molecules
- Development of methodologies for the use of anisotropic NMR parameters in structural elucidation of small molecules

Carnegie Mellon University

PA, USA

Teaching Assistant

Spring 2016

- Course -Laboratory II: Organic Synthesis and Analysis

Universidad Nacional Autónoma de México

Research Assistant

- Synthesis of 2,5-disubstituted pyrazines

Mexico City, México 2012 –2013

Universidad Nacional Autónoma de México

Research Assistant

Mexico City, México 2009 –2011

- NMR studies of natural products
- Extraction, purification and characterization of natural products

Universidad Nacional Autónoma de México

Research internship

- Synthesis of heterocyclic compounds

Mexico City, México Summer 2006

SKILLS

- Programming: Python, Bash, Golang
- Applications: Autodock Vina, NAMD, Amber, I-TASSER, Schrödinger (Maestro), Topspin, MNova, MSpin, Gaussian09
- Tools/Techs: LaTeX, Git

- Intruments: Nuclear Magnetic Resonance (NMR), Infrared spectroscopy (IR), Gas Chromatography (GS), High-Performance Liquid Chromatography (HPLC), UV-Vis, PCR, Transmission electron microscopy (TEM)
- Languages: Spanish (Native), English(bilingual), German (Conversational)

AWARDS AND LEADERSHIP

- Travel scholarship to attend Small Molecules Are Still Hot (SMASH) meeting in Atlanta, US2014
- Travel scholarship to attend SMASH meeting in Providence, US2012
- $\bullet$  CONACyT scholarship to work as research assistant 2009-2011
- Cofounder of the student fraction of the Mexican Chemical Society at the Faculty of Chemistry UNAM, with the secretary position 2011
